IFA 2017 Product Preview: Seven Smart Lighting Products to Brighten Your Lifestyle

July 20, 2017 by Samantha Shen — Leave a Comment

With a convenient connected home, lightbulbs can have functions more than just light up, and light controls can be right in your hand, or combined easily with other controllers. IFA2017, held on September 1-6 in Berlin, presents the latest innovations and a comprehensive overview of the international market. It attracts trade visitors from over 100 countries. SMAhome has selected the highlight products in IFA2017 that not just brighten your home but provide a smarter lifestyle.

Terraillon Homni

Homni helps user to control sleeping environment. The compatible app uses the data from the various Homni sensors and the Dot sleep sensor to provide a complete dashboard presentation of user's sleep data, including bedroom environment and sleep analysis like sleep durations, sleep cycles as well as body movement. Users can create personal sleeping environment with the integrated Bluetooth speakers and selected lighting effect. The light diffused by Homni adjusts to suit each phase of sleep: red hues at bedtime which do not disrupt the secretion of the sleep hormone melatonin, and blue shades in the morning for a gentle transition into the day. Users can also choose to fall asleep or wake up with one of the 18 sound environments included in Homni.
